OSCE 2nd July 2008

Case 1

- 1. How can you assess from the x-ray whether a reduction of Colles' fracture is satisfactory or not? (2 marks)
- 2. During follow-up for Colles' fracture, what movement of hand will you be specifically interested? (2 marks)
- 3. What are the cause & the underlying pathology? (3 marks)
- 4. Name one etiology that may also result in same pathology. (2 marks)

Case 2

A 24 year-old lady complained of right abdominal pain for 1 week. AXR was taken.

- 1. What is the AXR abnormality? (1 mark)
- 2. What is your provisional diagnosis? (1 mark)
- 3. What other sites can this condition occur? (3 marks)
- 4. Name 3 complications that may occur in this patient. (3 marks)

Case 3

A 23 year-old man had chest discomfort since yesterday. He did not have associated symptoms. BP 116/61, pulse 217/min. SpO2 100%. RR 18/min. ECG was done.

- 1. What are the ECG findings? (3 marks)
- 2. What is your diagnosis? (2 marks)
- 3. Name one drug that is specifically useful for this condition. (2 marks)

Case 4

A 22 year-old man had cough for 2 months. A CXR was taken & shown.

- 1. What are your findings? (2 marks)
- 2. What is your diagnosis? (2 marks)
- 3. How is it inherited? (1 mark)
- 4. What is the pathophysiology of this condition? (1 mark)
- 5. Name 3 complications for this condition. (3 marks)

Case 5

A 25 year-old man was hit by others with fist resulting in right facial injury. This is the photo.

- 1. What physical signs can be seen in this photo? (3 marks)
- 2. What is your clinical diagnosis? (2 marks)
- 3. What other physical signs will you look for? (3 marks)
- 4. What is your management in A&E? (4 marks)